

A CHANCE TO GET AMATEUR'S LICENSE—Persons interested in obtaining their radio amateur license can still enroll in the class which will begin Monday in the building used by the Greeneville Amateur Radio Club over Duggins Television. Ralph Bible, shown above, call letters K4MIJ, secretary of the club, said that the course, which will last two months, will consist of theory on Monday nights and code on Tuesday nights. The course will be taught by James Arrington and Leslie Ottinger. There is room for ten more in the class, and the cost of the course will be $13.50, which includes needed testbooks. The radio club now has fifteen members, and ten persons are enrolled in the course. Persons interested can sign up for the course at the building Monday night. Class sessions will begin at 7:30 p. m.
